1963 - The Origins

Aquilino Cosani started his entrepreneurial activity in 1950 using natural rubber for the production of puppets. In 1963, thanks to the advent of plastic and the new business opportunities offered by major American corporations, he founded the company Ledraplastic and dedicated his work to the application of this "new" material to the toys of that age.

1966 - The Disney Era

From 1966 onwards, the production of puppets increased significantly thanks to a wider assortment of Disney characters and the acquisition of further licenses from great American companies such as Metro Goldwin Mayer, United Artists and Larry Harmon Pictures Corp. The Disney figure toys remained part of the company's product range until 1988.

1976

Ledraplastic plant during post-earthquake reconstruction (1976)

1976 - The Reconstruction

On May 6th 1976 an earthquake with magnitude 6,5 devastated the region of Friuli causing great damage. Ledraplastic was severely affected by this event. The plant had to be entirely demolished and rebuilt. Thanks to the help of the workforce and the whole community, production could resume after 9 months.

2023 - We Celebrate our 60th Anniversary!

The second and third generation of the Cosani family, who are currently running Ledraplastic's business, would like to thank all the clients, suppliers and workforce for their support and their trust in the company during all these years!

1990

The first "Gymnic Ball" (1990 catalogue)

1990 - Gymnic Brand and Innovation

The Gymnic Brand first appeared in 1990 on the first "Gymnic Ball" marking the transition to a line of products focused on the concepts of movement, well-being, prevention and interaction. In 2021 the innovative drive brought the company to develop the current range of products under the newly designed brand Gymnic - The Way to Move - which became an identifying element of our company.

1984

First appearance of Rody hopping horse with logo "Rodeo" (1985 catalogue)

1984 - New Product Lines

Starting from the mid-80s the company introduced a new kind of toys, which we called "dynamic" as they imply a more active participation of the child compared to the traditional puppets. This is a complete change of mindset in the approach to toys. In 1984 the company created one of its most iconic products: Rody the hopping horse. Shortly afterwards, in 1987, the Hop ball made its first appearance on the market, followed by another bestseller, the Over Ball, in 1988.

Why is Rody so special?

- Improves motor skills. The Rody horse gives children playtime fun while building muscle and improving little one's motor skills. Bouncing strengthens the leg muscles, while improving arm and grip function as the child holds onto Rody's ears. Core strength builds as the rider moves to balance.
- Unique design. The rounded shape, designed by a merging of spheres, ensures ultimate bounce and safety. Its unique design results in the center being contoured, allowing a naturally balanced and comfortable seat for the rider. Furthermore, the rounded design together with its smiling expression make it a lovable character which has an immediate appeal to children.
- Material safety and superior bouncing performance. The material used, compliant with the most stringent European and US chemical regulations, is a perfect combination of strength, softness and elasticity in order to provide the best riding experience ever.
- Versatile like no one. Thanks to the removable bases (Rocking Base and Speedy Base) you can transform your Rody either in a rocking horse or in a wheeled ride-on toy. In this way, you can increase its functions and extend the possibilities of use.

Ledraplastic S.p.A., founded in 1963, was one of the first manufacturing companies to use the rotational moulding method to work non-toxic vinyl. In the first 20 years, the production process concentrated on the baby toys. The flagship products of these early years were the Disney puppets manufactured under license from the Walt Disney Company. Since the mid-80s, the business has established itself in several market sectors: from toys to fitness, including physiotherapy and wellness. Our own brand, Gymnic - The Way to Move - identifies our product range on the international market and stands for quality products designed to provide movement and well-being to people of all ages.
