PRINT YOUR OWN BREAKFAST

We have worked together with kick-ass illustrator Caroline Corrigan for our book where we did an entire chapter with her work, teaching you all kinds of awesome tricks. When we just finished the book we already dreamed of working together again. I have always wanted to print an elaborate breakfast table and Carolines work is perfect for that. I was so happy when I asked her to work together on this project she was just as enthusiastic as we were!

DESIGN YOUR BREAKFAST

Screen printing is awesome and I love the preparation just as much, designing, placing the print, mixing your colors... So we made you this little booklet to help you along. On the next pages you see eeeeeverything you need for a delish breakfast, cut out everything you need and design your table cloth (we made you a round table and a square table), a tee, sock, postcard or your undies. Me and my girls had a blast creating our breakfast. Check our blog to see what we made!

CUT YOUR STENCILS BY HAND

If you want to cut them by hand make sure you have a cutting mat and a sharp x-acto knife. Use the free template file and scale the templates to the size you want. We indicated the different layers of every object with a different color.

CUT YOUR STENCILS BY MACHINE

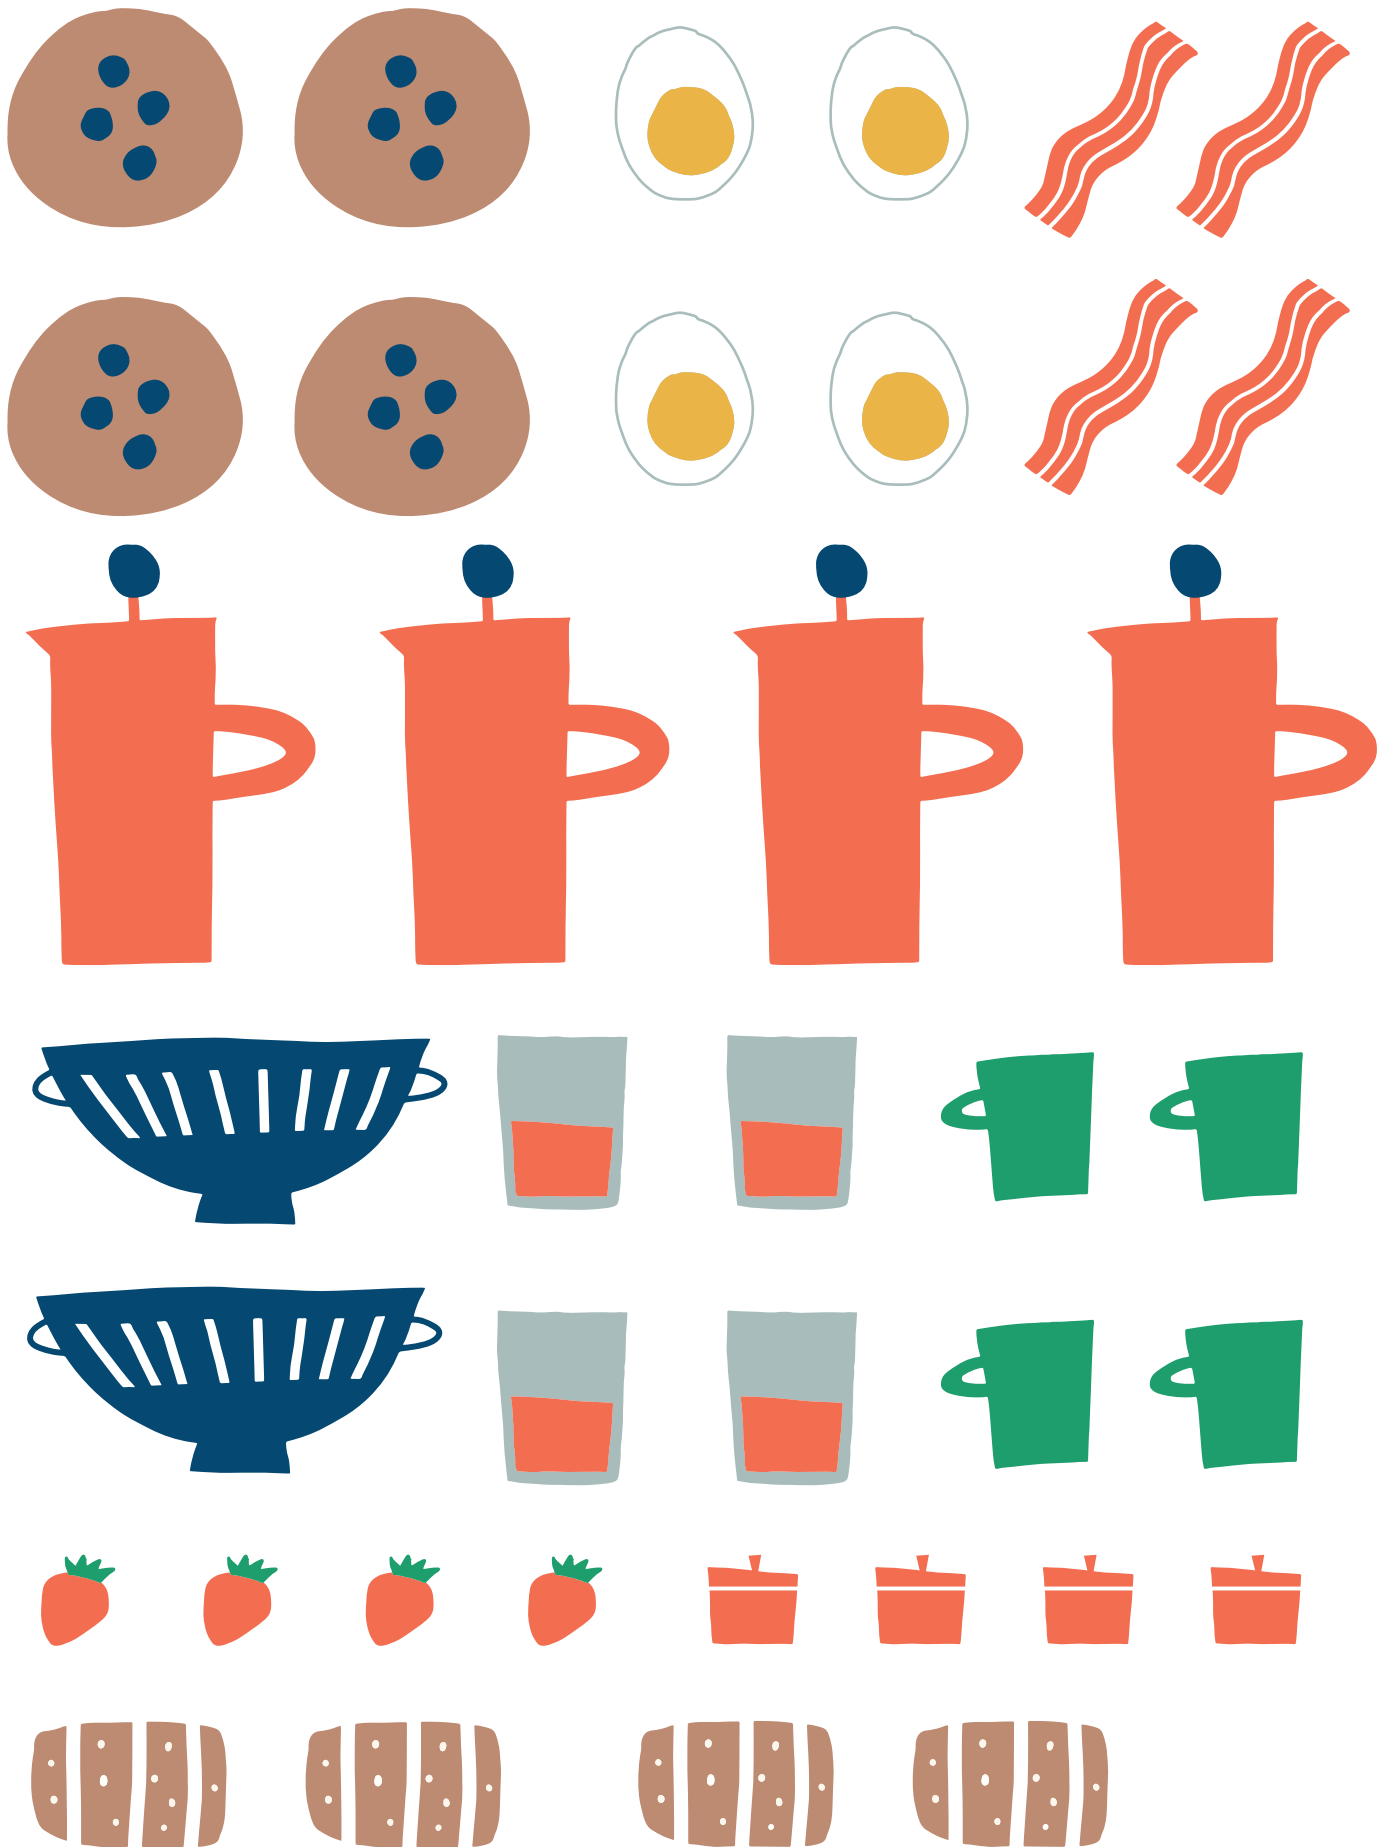

If you have a cutting machine we also added a SVG file to make life easy for you! We always recommend to test first with regular paper to get the settings right.

Who said printing your breakfast is only for a table cloth? A croissant on your socks, lemons on your undies, all is possible!
