

'Method Eline Snel'®

Attention training for children aged 4-19

Program workshop

- What is mindfulness?
- Why in schools and other institutes?
- The story of the frog
- Themes in the training course M&M
- Effects
- Another exercise
- Who gives 'Mindfulness matters' training courses?
- Research until now
- Time for questions

Core idea:

You cannot hold back the waves,
But you can learn to surf

Mindfulness matters

- Mindfulness method for children developed by Eline Snel, author of 'Sitting still like a frog' (distributed in 39 countries)
- based on scientifically researched training course for adults (MBSR)
- more than 10000 children have followed this training course in schools, private practices, mental health centres, rehabilitation centres
- made-to-measure training courses for 4 age groups from 4 -19 year-olds

What is mindfulness?

The ability of every person and child to be attentive in a special way: to be conscious and present in a friendly way, in every moment, without judgment, conscious of the urge to react

The exercise: sitting still like a frog
The story of the frog

Themes in the training course

- observing and concentrating
- attention to your body
- tasting, smelling, hearing, seeing and feeling
- patience, having confidence and letting go
- feeling emotions and allowing them to exist
- becoming familiar with dealing with thoughts
- being nice is fun
- the secret of happiness

For teenagers

extra themes: dealing with (exam) stress and the art of listening

Another exercise

Who give 'Mindfulness Matters' training courses?

Teachers, child psychologists/psychiatrists, orthopedics, special needs teachers, children's coaches and other professionals who work with children trained at the AMT (Academy for Mindful Teaching)

Each year the frog certificate is renewed, when the children's trainer has done a refresher course, which keeps every children's trainer up-to-date.

Effects

- concentration increases, impulsive behavior is reduced
- negative thoughts and worrying disappear
- relaxation, calm, and good sleep increase
- Fears and depression decrease
- Friendliness and respect towards yourself and others increases, more confidence
- Less reactionary behavior to stress or the behavior of others

Time for questions

Thank you for being her

More info? Please visit our website www.elinesnel.com

