

LUNA ROJA
HELIOPSIS HELIANTHOIDES

"Blooms so abundantly - it's hard to keep your eyes off her."

Ready to add some sunshine to the summer garden? Then Heliopsis Luna Roja is the girl you're looking for. Bred by Janus Verschoor, this hardy sunflower blooms so abundantly that it's hard to keep your eyes off her. And thanks to the wonderful foliage, she's just as beautiful when not in bloom.

That incredible amount of flowers obviously means an incredible amount of nectar: contributing to the biodiversity and keeping bees and butterflies happy as ever. Her brightly coloured flowers are meant to make an impression no matter where she's planted.

USP's

- Strong flower stems
- Intense colours
- Long, extended flowering period
- Disease, drought and humidity tolerant
- Bee- and butterfly friendly
- Low maintenance