BRCITRUS

When I was little, my father planted fragrant lemon and orange trees in our garden. The seasons and the years went by, and together we watched them grow.

Walking under the trees became our recurring appointment to enjoy the flowering show or the beautiful fruits.

Now that my dad is gone, my daughter Andrea and I love continuing the tradition and caring for our citrus trees.

Among the branches and the scents of the flowers, my father's presence is tangible, and his teachings resonate loud and clear.

Love for the earth and for nature, respect for its cycles, joy in following traditions and gratitude for our parents, who are our roots.

The Magic of Trees

In a serene village, a gifted artisan embarks on a quest into the ancient forest to gather precious wood. With Camphora, Sawo Fruit, Teak, Jackfruit, and Swietenia Mahogany, he crafts a collection of wooden beads, each embodying unique properties symbolizing spiritual growth, endurance, uniqueness, inner peace and a healthy life.

These beads become conduits of well-being, resonating with the essence of nature and fostering a deep connection between wearers and the natural world.

When unveiled, the "Magic of Trees" collection captivates the village, its beads seeming to radiate an inner light. Wearing these wooden treasures instils a profound sense of belonging and unity with the grand tapestry of existence, a testament to the enduring magic of nature's gifts.

Style your bracelet with charms that represent your feelings at that moment. It is time for another beautiful new phase of nature and of yourself.
